

Task2

2.1 What I do is that if the user wants to make Lindt aerated chocolate, I tell them that there is no such option and I set the pointer to null. Then I do null check if the user wants to explicitly want to see the description.

2.2 If you want to do it in terms of Object orientated then what you would do is that you would make an object of it and just set the object to null so that it points to nowhere
